Spray Lake Sawmills (SLS) is Inviting All Stakeholders

To Take Part in a Collaborative Planning Session

In an effort to provide additional opportunities for meaningful participation early in the operational planning process, SLS is offering a collaborative stakeholder planning session. SLS values stakeholder input and wants to provide opportunities for collaboration to improve operational plans.

The McLean Creek Planning Session will be held on September 27, 2018 at the Spray Lake Sawmills office in Cochrane, starting at 1:00 PM until approximately 4:00 PM. Please see the attached compartment map for location details.

If you are interested in participating, please RSVP to woodlands@spraylakesawmills.com by September 24, 2018.

The following topics will be addressed:

- Identification of stakeholder values in the area
 - Specific values (campgrounds, trails, grazing, etc.)
 - General values (water quality, wildlife, etc.)
- Spray Lake Sawmill's harvesting objectives
 - Mountain Pine Beetle, forest management plan, wildfire mitigation, etc.
- Forest management tools used in harvest design
- Preliminary harvest area and road design
- Mitigation strategies to address stakeholder concerns
- Additional topics (harvest timing, access, etc.)

Please note: These sessions are scheduled for planning upcoming harvest operations for specific compartments. This is not an appropriate venue for discussing broad forest management practices such as Operating Ground Rules, land use planning or concerns outside of the indicated compartments. Please contact SLS at woodlands@spraylakesawmills.com with any questions. We look forward to seeing you at the session, if you would like to contribute to the planning process but are unable to make the session please email and alternative arrangements can be made.
